Honoring our Veterans

Grateful for the military service veterans have provided to our country, Carroll Hospice has initiated two programs to honor them and thank them for their sacrifices.

The Veteran to Veteran program, initiated in August 2011, recognizes military veterans for their service when they enter hospice care. Hospice volunteers—who are also veterans—present the veteran patient with a certificate of appreciation and a flag pin, said Debbie Zepp, Carroll Hospice’s volunteer coordinator.

More than 30 veteran patients have received this honor. “It’s been a wonderful experience for both the veteran patients and the volunteers,” Zepp said. “The presentations often spark inspiring and meaningful conversations about the veterans’ service to their country.”

The relationship between the veteran volunteer and the veteran hospice patient is a very natural one, said Bill Palm, a Vietnam-era Army veteran volunteer. “It’s easy to build a rapport with someone who has served. It may not be exactly the same experience, but there are always equivalent experiences to tie into the discussion.”

Working with the veteran hospice patients has been rewarding, Palm said. “We help them feel appreciated,” he explained.

Army veteran Walter Moreau served overseas in Germany for three years during the Korean War. In November 2011, he was recognized for his service to his country after he entered Dove House, Carroll Hospice’s inpatient facility.

Hospice’s roots are entwined in the community that we serve. This is evident in the many partnerships that hospice has formed with other health care providers, community groups, professional networks and community members. This issue of Hospice News focuses on several new partnerships we have developed in the past year.

Our successful veterans outreach program not only honors veterans’ service, but provides education on end-of-life issues specific to veterans and other matters they may face. Our new partnerships in the Frederick County community include a new bereavement support group that blossomed from our collaboration with Glade Valley Center in Walkersville. And the fact that a local high school’s student government association has teamed up with Carroll Hospice to raise money for our organization is inspiring.

We could not be your community hospice without the new and sustained partnerships we’ve created. We value each of these relationships, and we look forward to making new ones so that we may continue the quality end-of-life care deserved by all.

Sincerely,

Diane Link, R.N.
Executive Director, Carroll Home Care & Carroll Hospice
Surrounded by his family, he received the certificate and pin from a hospice veteran volunteer, who also took the time to pose for photos. The family thought it was a very dignified presentation, done with pride, professionalism and warmth, said daughter-in-law Sherry Moreau.

The presentation triggered conversation among family members about Walter’s time in the military and, during that time, Walter quietly passed away. “It was his very last honor, and it meant a lot to him and to the family,” Moreau said. “He never received a word of thanks for his time in the service, and I think he waited for that presentation [before passing away].”

The family valued the hospice volunteer’s caring and sensitive nature, and appreciated Carroll Hospice for recognizing Walter as a veteran. “It made us proud,” Moreau said.

Another way Carroll Hospice and Carroll Home Care honor military veterans is through the annual Veteran Appreciation Breakfast, launched in 2010. More than 60 veterans and their guests attended the free breakfast in 2011, held at the Best Western Conference Center in Westminster.

“The breakfast is a way of saying thank you to each veteran for his or her dedication and commitment to our country,” said Adriane Morrow, marketing liaison for Carroll Home Care and Carroll Hospice. “We are devoted to providing the highest quality of care to our patients and their families, and we look to our veterans as an example of strength, dedication and service.”

Health care presentations at the breakfast included an explanation of VA benefits from Mike Sater, commander of Disabled American Veterans #22, and an examination into the changing face of health care from David Louder, M.D., Col., USAF (Ret.), vice president of physician partnerships at Carroll Hospital Center.

During his presentation, Dr. Louder discussed Carroll Hospital Center’s commitment to service and the hospital’s collaborations with local physicians and Carroll Health Group’s primary and specialty providers to strengthen communication, patient care and the patient care experience.

“It’s always exciting to be around other folks who have served and share our experiences and camaraderie,” said Dr. Louder. “We wanted to let the veterans know how important they are to us—they are special people in our hearts.”

A recognition ceremony led by Leslie Gee, R.N., B.S.N., Cpt., USAF (Ret.), director of Carroll Home Care and Carroll Hospice, ended the breakfast. During the ceremony, each veteran was commended for his or her service, given a pin and asked to stand when his or her military era was announced. “The ceremony was very well received and sparked conversations and reminiscences among the veterans in attendance,” Gee said.

The next Veteran Appreciation Breakfast is scheduled for November 14, 2012 at the Best Western Conference Center. For more information, call 410-871-8000.
It is time once again to enjoy the specialties of more than 40 restaurants and wineries and support the vital services of Carroll Hospice at the 13th annual Taste of Carroll.

Not only do attendees have the opportunity to sample the delectable food and wine from the region’s finest restaurants and wineries, but they also have the chance to enjoy an intimate reception with special VIP guest Tom Matte of the Baltimore Colts and participate in a large silent auction, featuring approximately 100 unique items and experiences.

As the signature fundraiser for Carroll Hospice, the goal is to raise $125,000 in proceeds for hospice programs and services.

“This event would not be possible without the generosity and dedication of our sponsors, guests, and participating restaurants, wineries and breweries,” said Christine Gerstmyer, chairwoman of this year’s event. “Their support allows the important work of hospice to continue in our community.”

This year’s event will be held on the beautiful 250-acre campus of Gerstell Academy in Finksburg. BB&T is the presenting sponsor for the event.

The 2011 event raised more than $110,000 to support hospice programs and services.

Help make this year the best yet! To purchase tickets, donate an auction item, or sign on as a participating restaurant or winery, visit www.CarrollHospice.org or call 410-871-7220.

Manchester Valley High School SGA raises funds for Carroll Hospice

Each year, Manchester Valley High School’s Student Government Association (SGA) chooses a nonprofit organization to benefit from its fundraising efforts.

For SGA President Anthony Rinaudo, choosing this year’s nonprofit was easy.

“I knew immediately that I wanted to help Carroll Hospice,” said Rinaudo, a 17-year-old senior. “I had a very personal experience with a family member in hospice my freshman year and I wanted to give back.”

When he shared his idea with the other SGA representatives, some in the group of about two dozen students said they also had knowledge of hospice through personal experience. The SGA collectively decided that Carroll Hospice should be the recipient of their fundraising efforts.

Manchester Valley High School teacher and SGA adviser Tom Riddle was a bit surprised by the choice. “Carroll Hospice is totally different than any other organization that we have supported,” he said. “Some of the students have a personal connection to hospice, and that personal interest has motivated these high-achieving students even more.”

Throughout the 2011-12 school year, the SGA has been raising money for Carroll Hospice through various events, including a volleyball tournament, a talent show and a pancake breakfast, and through restaurant fundraisers and donation jars. They also decorated a tree for Carroll Hospice’s Festival of Trees event, which raised $90 through the event’s silent auction. Their goal is to raise and donate more than $2,500.

“Thereir goal, as a student government, is to not only help the school, but help the community,” said Riddle. “They understand the importance of service.”

In addition to donating to a worthy cause, the students would like to set an example for similar organizations. “We want other schools and organizations to know that they can help out organizations like Carroll Hospice and make a difference,” said Rinaudo.

Leslie Gee, director of Carroll Home Care and Carroll Hospice, appreciates the students’ efforts. “Carroll Hospice is very appreciative of this group of students,” she said. “We are honored to have been chosen as the recipients of their hard work. It is truly inspiring to know that, at such a young age, hospice is in their thoughts and held in such high regard.”
When a little goes a long way

We all wish we could do more. No matter how young or how old we are, there is simply not enough time to do all we want to do. Surprisingly, one of the most common sayings from retirees is, “I am busier than ever … I don’t know how I had time to do everything while I was working.” With so many competing demands, how do we prioritize?

One thing we all should have time for is to talk with our attorney about a will. The cost of not having a will is simply too high. Without one, our loved ones, friends and cherished causes are left to try to figure out our intentions. When we die without a will, the state will determine what was important to us, and will do the best it can to divide our possessions. The results are not always what we intended. The cost, both in money and heartache, is often high.

When we take a moment to draft a will with an attorney, our loved ones, friends and charitable organizations have a clear picture of our legacy. The difference we made in our lives can continue long after we are here.

While the cost of an attorney drafting your will is surprisingly low, the emotional satisfaction that comes with it is reassuringly high. For an even greater feeling of accomplishment, include an organization like Carroll Hospice in your plans. You can include a gift of a specific asset, a specific dollar amount or a percentage of your estate. Call the Carroll Hospital Center Foundation office at 410-871-6200 and speak with Jenny Gambino, director of philanthropic planning. She will be happy to help you and to answer any questions you may have. You may also visit the Carroll Hospital Center Foundation website at www.CarrollHospitalFnd.org for additional information. It’s a great thing you’ll appreciate today, and many more will be grateful to you tomorrow.

New board members

R. Wayne Barnes, C.L.U., C.L.T.C.
Mr. Barnes, a Carroll County native, has returned to the Carroll Hospice Board of Trustees. Actively involved with the business, agriculture and nonprofit sectors for many years, Mr. Barnes is an independent insurance broker for long-term care insurance, life insurance and annuities, and the former president of Barnes-Bollinger Insurance Services, Inc. He was a member of the Carroll Hospital Center Foundation from 1997 to 2008, where he served as a member of the Planned Giving Committee for the Foundation. He is currently serving on the hospital’s Investment Committee and on the board of directors of the Carroll County Chamber of Commerce, Carroll Lutheran Village, Access Carroll, the Carroll County Economic Commission and the Industrial Development Authority.

Mr. Barnes retired as the Security Police Squadron Commander for the 135th Maryland Air National Guard. He is the past president of the Carroll County Chamber of Commerce, Carroll County Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors and Charles Carroll Lions Club. He lives in Westminster with his wife Bonnie, with whom he has one grown son.

Mary Darrell
Mary Darrell has been in the pharmaceutical industry for more than 20 years, serving the Maryland, Washington, D.C., and Northern Virginia areas. She presently leads a sales team promoting respiratory medications to better the lives of patients with asthma and COPD. Active in Dedicated to Awareness and Support of Hospice (DASH) with her husband, Mark, Ms. Darrell brings to the board her personal experience of having a loved one at the Dove House; her professional experience of marketing to the medical community; and her passion for being a servant leader. The Darrells reside in the Finksburg area and have two adult daughters, Krista and Emily.

Season to Remember Loved Ones

The weeklong 2011 Season to Remember, featuring Carroll Hospice’s Festival of Trees and Memorial Tree and the Carroll Hospital Center Auxiliary’s Tree of Lights Ceremony, raised more than $15,000 for Carroll Hospice and $5,000 for the Auxiliary.

Scores of visitors stopped by the Festival of Trees to view and bid on 32 beautiful trees artfully decorated by individuals, community groups and businesses.

Bill Troxell has bought a tree each year for the past three years. Each purchase honors the memory of his late wife, Doris, and supports the organization that cared for her at the end of her life.

“Carroll Hospice is one of the finest organizations that I know of,” said Troxell. “I was overwhelmed at the service they gave us.”

Over the holidays, Troxell displayed some of the items he’d purchased from previous Season to Remember events in the lilac-colored memorial room he created in his home in honor of his wife. A tree decorated with the dove ornaments he purchased from Carroll Hospice in Doris’ memory could be found there, as could the first tree he bought; he was drawn to that particular tree because of its purple ball ornaments — Doris’ favorite color. This year, he wanted a tree that he could use as a centerpiece. He found what he was looking for in a 2-foot-tall topiary decorated with pieces of broken jewelry donated by The White Rabbit Thrift Shop.

“Buying a tree is a small thing that I can do to show my appreciation for the fine services hospice provided for my wife,” he said. “Doris and I were married 58 years, and we had a great life.”

The Memorial Tree service at Carroll Hospice’s Dove House ended the weeklong event. Hundreds gathered to remember someone special in their lives and collect ornaments they purchased in their honor.

We extend a heartfelt thanks to all who made these worthwhile events possible.

Save the date for Season to Remember 2012, taking place November 26 to December 3, 2012.

Carroll Hospice relies on support from the community to continue to provide services to those in a time of need. In 2011, more than 4,000 individuals and businesses made charitable donations supporting Carroll Hospice totaling more than $723,000. Private support played a significant role in helping hospice meet the needs of many families.

Every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the list of donors. If we have inadvertently misspelled or omitted your name, please accept our apologies and contact the Hospice Development office at 410-871-7220 so we may correct our records.
